All White Now

From clean to dirty, white's right for garden plant choices this year. The clearest color trend is a more toned-down palette with a focus on calm and harmony, particularly shades of white from crisp to snowy, ivory to "dirty whites." With the here-to-stay emphasis on inside/outside lifestyle, colors in the garden continue to mirror those that are hot in the home sphere. At least four major consumer paint companies selected shades of white as their top 2016 colors. Clean, fresh, optimistic—this color should be on everyone's watch list.

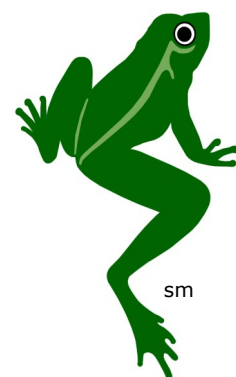

But keep an eye on blue, too! There was a huge demand in 2015 for all things blue—which might have something to do with Pantone choosing "Serenity" as one of its 2016 color picks—from Blue Enchantress Hydrangeas to Bountiful Blue Blueberries and Icee Blue Junipers. All of which, by the way, are ideal with white.

Pond Wiser offers landscaping services to replace plants that do not survive the winter or to give your landscape beds an update with new, fresh plantings. Call today to get scheduled. 330-833-FROG

Getting Ready to Roll

We are prepping for our 27th season and we are certain it will be an exciting one. Due to the warmer than usual winter and lack of snow cover, algae is getting a jumpstart on its growth. Normally algae dies off and does not grow during Ohio winters because the snow provides cover from the sun and the water freezes. Not this year...

You should have received your 2016 spring letter to register for services. If you didn't, and would like to sign-up, go to our website, www.pondwiser.com, and download a copy and return to us by fax, email or usps mail. Please read the letter carefully. A few options have changed.
